Heartfelt Thanks

I am so thankful for being a member of the First Presbyterian church. During the last month since my husband passed away, I have had people from the church stop in (including the minister several times) to visit and bring food, and have received many cards and emails.

Then I was approached by the Fellowship Committee wanting to know if my family and I wanted a luncheon after the memorial service. And did they put on a great luncheon. Entering the Fellowship Hall was like stepping into a fancy dining hall in a restaurant. The tables looked beautiful, decked out with flowers. The food was absolutely delicious. My family couldn't believe that any church would do that great of a job.

There were arrays of salads, sandwiches, fruit and cookies. Everything was so tasty. My grandchildren loved them! Coffee cups were filled with fresh coffee before your cups were empty.

I cannot thank the women on the committee enough, plus all the people bringing in food and set up everything and those who helped clean up afterwards.

Rev. Mike did a beautiful job with the service, and Cameron was on the spot recording the sermon so my family in Germany could see it on YouTube. Well done Cameron! Bob Duda provided the beautiful music. Thank you Bob! Ellen and Pat, thanks for organizing everything. It was greatly appreciated. Marty would have loved it.

Thank you all from the bottom of my heart. - Christa Lyon

Congratulations Natasha!

Thanks to the efforts of Natasha Rossiter to submit an essay to the Northern New York Community Spirit Youth Giving Challenge, the Canton Free Library was awarded a $500 grant! Way to go Natasha!

The charitable organization that best embodies community is the Canton Free Library. The library brought me joy for many years. The library has only two floors, the lower floor is for children and storage while the upper is for adults. As a child I went for story time with the librarian Miss Val. The kids with me loved listening to the stories and at least one of us checked out a book to read. There was also a 6th grade writing club that many people did. There was a lot of laughter and maybe a few tears shed. Upstairs every child spins the globe looking at the strange shapes apart from the blue. They check out craft books to do at home especially origami.

The library is an organization that supports community. It is a place where people can group together safely. Many people make friends with people who are different ages. The library is a place you can learn all you want without having to be told to stop (unless they are closing). There is no other type of building that has a physical copy of knowledge. The library is a place where you will know people for all of your life. It is a place that people can learn and make mistakes together, each making the other rise higher in the sky.

The Pastor's Report

And so it begins...again.

Howdy to all you friends and church folk far and wide! September is now upon us, and we begin a new school year and church season. Fortified from summer rest and recreation, we once again turn our attention to the matter at hand: daily living and all that this entails.

Of course, we've all been living our lives each day all summer, but I'm sure you understand the sense we all have at the end of each summer that come September it is time to get back to our "normal" routines and lives.

September always seems to be an opportunity for a fresh start, a reset and, perhaps, a new direction or goal (however modest). Given this, I'd like to "float a balloon" to you as to where we, as a congregation, might like to move ourselves.

One of the greatest challenges I face as a minister is what I term "non-acute pastoral care." That is, getting around to visit folks "just because." Meaning, there is not necessarily a pressing need due to sickness or distress but, rather, the simple desire to say hello, catch up and spend some time together. In any given week, however, it seems as if there is always some urgent need, some task which must be attended to, or some fire to put out. Unfortunately, this leaves little time for me to amble over and sit a spell with folks. Having said that, I recently had the opportunity to spend a little time with a few people and it got me to thinking.

One of the most difficult things for me, and I assume this to be the case for everyone, is how easily we can see the world in which we live from the pace at which we are living it and conclude there isn't whole lot we can do beyond holding on tight and, if we are lucky, enjoy the ride even a little bit every once and a while. In the big picture, there really isn't much we can do to change the world. This past month, however, I have come to see this isn't necessarily true.

Last week I had occasion to drive Betsy Robinson down to Syracuse for a medical appointment. I realized when I offered to do this that it would take a big bite out of my week. I also realized, though, that the opportunity to spend 5 hours in a car with a beloved church member who is in their 90s is a limited time offer. On the way home, I suggested we stop at the Good Golly diner in Central Square for coffee and a bite to eat. Betsy deferred saying, "Don't you have to get back?" I answered, "Betsy, this is what I'm doing today; let's stop." So we did. I had a couple of egg sandwiches for a late lunch, filled my travel mug with much needed coffee for the ride home and Betsy, out of the blue, decided to order a root beer float; a real treat right out of her childhood, or so she claimed (and so it seemed from watching her enjoy it). While it was a rather short respite from our drive, it was simply wonderful to share each other's company and a simple treat. A gift we gave to ourselves and each other.

As we ramp back up for a new school year and season at the church, I'd like to suggest that one of the best things we can do for ourselves and those in our congregation, is to make time to do some things we don't necessarily have to: share our lives with each other.

Blessings! - Rev. Mike

"Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? When did we see you sick or in prison and go to visit you?'"

"The King will reply, 'Truly I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me.'" - Matthew 25:37-40

Saving Grace

Thankful may I ever be
for everything that God bestows.
Thankful for the joys and sorrows,
for the blessings and the blows.
Thankful for the wisdom gained through hardships and adversity.

Thankful for the undertones
as well as for the melody.

Thankful may I ever be
for the benefits
both great and small-
and never fail in gratitude
for that divinest gift of all:

The love of friends
that I have known
in times of failure and success.
O may the first prayer of the day
be always one of thankfulness.

Church School Program 2022-2023

Greetings Parents and Students,

I hope you all have had a fun summer and found some time to relax & enjoy! Summer is my favorite season. It is hard to believe that it is already time to start talking about the Church School Program resuming classes for the fall. I am looking forward to the upcoming year and have a lot of exciting plans for the students.

I believe that religious education should be a fun experience for the children. I want them to enjoy themselves while learning and be excited to come back the following week! In this program, we will learn about different bible stories and work on projects related to that story. These projects will include any of the following: crafts, music, games, singing, dance, acting, and art. I hope to have enough students to be able to perform a Christmas Pageant this year!

I am requesting that all parents fill out a registration form for each of their students. This will help me to be aware of any allergies or medical concerns. Also, I would like to create an email distribution list for parents, so I can send any updates or important upcoming events.

Please feel free to drop off the registration forms to the Church Office, mail them to me at the address below, or scan them to my email. All information will be kept confidential.

The first day of Church School will be September 11th! See you all soon!

Sincerely,
